President's Message

Bienvenidos a todos to our 2013
“Mujeres Del Año” Awards Gala!

Tonight, we have prepared a wonderful evening that highlights and celebrates the outstanding demonstration of character, commitment, civility, and citizenship of extraordinary women in our communities.

These “Mujeres” come from a variety of professional fields and disciplines and will be awarded for their impact, influence, and inspiration in our community.

I am honored to have the opportunity to work and build unbreakable bonds with these outstanding women. This year we have an amazing group of awardees that are making immeasurable impacts in our communities.

I would like to take a few moments to give my personal thanks to our board of directors, sponsors, members, family, and friends; without their continued support and contribution, we would not be able to accomplish our great ambitions.

We give special thanks to our Regional Hispanic Leadership Council, of which are students and recent graduates of the California State University System: Andrew Sandoval, Javier Zamorano, Tania Alvarez and Mauricio Güitrón Piña... YOU are the BEST!!

Thank you Brand Identity Graphics, Oney Ayala, Isabel Ayala, Conexion and Hispanic LifeStyle. Wow what a great team!

Dean Michael Solt, without your unlimited dedication to our cause, we would not be here. You are awesome!

I look forward to continuing our business relationships with all of you and I invite you to become more involved with the RHCC and the RHI.

Always the best,

Sandy Cajas - President & CEO
Regional Hispanic Chamber of Commerce

Chairwoman's Message

As a past recipient of “Mujeres Del Año” I welcome you to this very special event for our community where we celebrate women leaders and incoming youth leaders.

I am honored to serve as the chairwoman of the fastest growing business organization in the Region.

As Chairwoman of the Board, I am confident that under my leadership, the RHCC will continue to be the premier advocacy group for the small business community and the primary resource for business information.

I look forward to a very successful and productive 2013 – 2014, and I urge all current members to reach out to businesses in their local communities that are not currently members and encourage them to join.

We will be planning many events and activities, all with the singular purpose of helping our small business community. With tough economic times ahead, we must show strength in numbers.

I am confident that we can together!

Cordially Yours!

Sonia Gomez - Chairwoman
Regional Hispanic Chamber of Commerce

Laura L. Doud
MUJER CONTADORA PUBLICA
City Auditor of Long Beach

Laura Doud is the elected City Auditor of Long Beach, a position often called the “watchdog” of the City’s Treasury.

Born and raised in Long Beach, Laura received her education entirely in her home city. She attended LBUSD schools from kindergarten through high school and graduated from Long Beach City College and California State University, Long Beach. Even her law degree (JD) was earned in Long Beach at Pacific Coast University School of Law. Laura is a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) and Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE).

First elected in 2006 and re-elected for a second four-year term in 2010, Laura is one of only four elected City Auditors in California - giving Long Beach the benefit of having an independent City Auditor. As City Auditor, Laura works to improve Long Beach by ensuring that money is spent as intended by the taxpayers and that the City is collecting all revenue that is due.

Approximately $3.5 million has been added every year for the City’s Police and Fire protection as a result of the City Auditor’s Office Report on Oil Extraction fees. In that report, Laura recommended an update of oil production tax rates resulting in a ballot measure that earned unprecedented voter approval and has contributed over $19 million since 2007 for public safety.

Under Laura’s direction, the City Auditor’s Office has produced nationally recognized audits with significant impact. In 2013, the Association of Local Government Auditors awarded its prestigious Knighton Award for the Parking Citations Collection Process Audit, which found nearly $18 million in unpaid parking tickets.

Laura lives in Long Beach with her husband, Jim, and their daughter, Kelly. In addition to her public service, she is an active member of her church and supports many community organizations. She currently serves on the Honorary Board of Governors of Leadership Long Beach and has recently been inducted into the Long Beach Community College Hall of Fame.

Yasmin Davidds

MUJER LIDERAZGO

Psychologist

International Negotiation Consultant and Executive Coach

Yasmin Davidds is an Organizational Psychologist, International Negotiation Consultant and Executive Coach. As one of the top leading Latina negotiation experts in the U.S. and Latin America, Dr. Davidds has trained and counseled over 2,000 corporate leaders in over 200 blue chip companies throughout 22 countries in the art and skill of negotiation.

Her clients have ranged from senior judges to tribal leaders, from unionized prison guards to accountants, and from railroad officials to diplomatic trainees. Her practical experience includes a wide range of public and private sector efforts in Brazil, Columbia, Argentina, England, France, Spain, South Africa and the U.S. She has helped lead intervention and assistance programs to disputing parties and has advised corporate, non-profit and governmental teams on how to prepare for important negotiations.

As a Hispanic Market Consultant for U.S. and Latin America Fortune 500 Companies, Yasmin trains company executives how to proactively utilize cause-related public relation strategies to attract Hispanic consumers. With her diversity expertise in the area of heightening awareness and creating levels of comfort when working with Hispanic markets, she has assisted clients in creating astounding goodwill with the Hispanic community.

She has developed internal/external marketing programs, implemented Hispanic recruitment and retention programs, and advised clients on how to develop strategic partnerships with Hispanic grassroots organizations.

Alma McMaster

MUJER DIVERSIDAD

Supplier Diversity & Development Program Manager

Southern California Edison

Alma McMaster is a Supplier Diversity & Development Program Manager for Southern California Edison and is responsible for Latino Business outreach programs. Before coming to Edison in 2009, Alma spent 18 years in the automotive industry, serving 15 of those years as a Purchasing Manager for two of the largest Asian-owned automotive companies in the U.S.

Throughout her tenure as a Purchasing Manager, a portion of Alma's responsibility was developing and sustaining Supplier Diversity Programs. It was through this experience Alma realized that supplier diversity was her calling as it was a way to utilize her business background while fulfilling her desire to help the diverse Business community succeed.

Alma has been able to leverage her extensive knowledge of corporate procurement to develop, advocate and promote the advancement of diverse business enterprises throughout SCE and beyond. Alma, a true advocate for Latino Businesses, works with and serves as a corporate advisor to many Latino Business organizations including the U.S. and California Hispanic Chambers of Commerce, many of their local chambers, the Latino Business Chamber of Commerce, as well as the National Latina Business Women Association-LA, who honored her this year with a "Women of Excellence" award.

Alma is especially proud that in the last 3 years SCE achieved spend of over $1.0 Billion dollars with Latino businesses. In 2012 alone, SCE reported spend with Latino Businesses of over $360 Million, which represented 9% of SCE's spend, the largest percentage of spend with any ethnic business group.

Cindy Orozco

MUJER EMPRESARIA

Owner

Orozco's Auto Service

Cindy Orozco was born in Los Angeles California. Her parents immigrated to the US from Mexico, and married here in Los Angeles in 1973. Cindy is the first born of 4 children.

At a very young age Cindy learned from her parents what an entrepreneurial life was, and the sacrifices needed when building a successful business. Her mother was her biggest role model; she influenced her in many ways. Cindy attended Los Cerritos College where she learned business administration, accounting and marketing. She also attended Southern California School of Interpretation.

Cindy is currently the Vice President and CFO of Orozco's Auto Service, manages the marketing department, and directs all financial aspects of the business. She has a strong team that supports her, and is lucky to have a wonderful staff.

Cindy has been happily married for 17 years to Servando Orozco with 3 children. She feels her biggest accomplishment and what she is most proud of is her family, to see smiles in her children's face and to know she can always count on her loving husband to be her biggest supporter.

Connie Perez

MUJER HACIENDO LA DIFERENCIA

Principal

Brown Armstrong Accountancy Corporation

Born in Tulare County to Mexican immigrant parents, Connie Perez came from modest beginnings on a labor camp to become a successful executive and strong advocate for Latinos. Ms. Perez is a partner with Brown Armstrong Accountancy Corporation. She began her career with the firm as a staff accountant and rose through the ranks to become one of only two Latinas to make partner in the 38 year history of the firm. She also serves on the American Institute of Certified Accountants (AICPA) National Commission on Diversity and Inclusion where she is focused on outreach and education to diverse communities on accounting careers.

Governor Edmund G. Brown appointed Ms. Perez as Commissioner to the State Lottery Commission. She is the designated representative for Central California and the only female and Latina commissioner. Ms. Perez also serves as a Board Member and Treasurer on the California Hispanic Chambers of Commerce, representing the interests of businesses across the central region, a territory that goes from Yuba County south to Kern County.

Giving back and supporting her community has always been important to Ms. Perez. She continues to be involved with several non-profits in the community. In 2012, Ms. Perez also co-founded the first Career Day at her former grammar school, Woodville Elementary School, where fourteen speakers shared their career story with the students who were predominately living on the nearby labor camp where she was also raised. Ms. Perez also serves on the board of the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Greater Los Angeles where she is helping to grant wishes to children suffering from life threatening illnesses with a specific focus on wishes for children with Spanish language needs.

Ms. Perez is featured in the documentary funded by the Cal Humanities Community Stories Fund and CSUB titled "Camp to Campus" that premiered on February 5, 2013, in the Dore Theater (<http://www.csub.edu/camptocampus/>). The 90-minute film focuses on first-generation college graduates who come from a migrant labor background. Ms. Perez was recently honored by the Kern County Hispanic Chambers of Commerce as Business Woman of the year and by Hispanic Lifestyle as a Latina of Influence.

Irene Wongpec

MUJER ARTE Y CULTURA

Cultural Ambassador/Public Relations

Irene was born in Nayarit, and raised in Mazatlán and Sinaloa México. She is the daughter of a Chinese immigrant; her mother is native of Nayarit. Mazatlán is famous for its local cultural affairs; this is where her passion began for Mexican and Latin American Folklore. Irene came to the United States to study at Northridge California University. She didn't finish her Bachelor's Degree, but "I got my Mrs. Degree," she jokingly says. Irene's joviality, good humor, and friendly but assertive manner makes her an influential Hispanic woman who, combining thrive, hard work, and love for her cultural heritage, can organize important events, promote Hispanic traditions, and work with the community at all levels.

Irene has worked with the Mexican and Latino communities for the last 25 years, both as public relations professional and as a Mexican woman proud of her cultural heritage. Amongst a long list of accomplishments, Irene directed Independence Day's Parade in East Los Angeles, making possible for several states such as Michoacán, Jalisco, Oaxaca, and Zacatecas, just to name a few, to be represented during this important annual celebration remembering Mexico's Independence from Spain taking place the Sunday previous to La Noche del Grito (Sept. 15).

Over the years, for the parade, Irene was able to secure Latino stars as Grand Mariscal: Oscar de la Hoya, Los Tigres del Norte, Antonio Aguilar, Juan Gabriel, Verónica Castro, Ignacio Lopez Tarzo, Eric del Castillo and many others.

The energetic, full of positivism woman has worked closely with the Mexican Consulate in Los Angeles and for the "Comité Mexicano Cívico Patriótico" to enhance and promote hundreds of community and cultural events. In one occasion, She brought the "Escuadrón 501," the only air force that Mexico sent to WWII. Currently, she is a cultural ambassador for the Bilingual Foundation of the Arts, founded by Carmen Zapata, a Mexican actress who has a star on Hollywood's Walk of Fame. She also does public relations for Tango Power, and is part of the dance group as well.

Irene has lived in Bolivia and Ecuador, and travels extensively. Every time she goes overseas, she always takes a "Rebozo," and for Fiestas Patrias she wears an authentic Mexican outfit. Irene has one son and one granddaughter. Her extended family resides in Mexico D.F. Aside from being actively engaged in the community; Irene spends time taking care of her beautiful cactus garden, and being a great friend.
